This short 2.5-hour program is perfect for the children to learn and develop the independence needed when away from their parent(s)/caregiver(s). In the program, our experienced educators will assess and support the children based on their current abilities, and developmental level.

Areas we will focus on developing and nurturing are:

Self-help: dressing, toileting, taking care of their own belongings, etc.

Self-regulation: managing difficult emotions positively.

Social: conflict resolution, turn-taking and perspective taking, etc.

Language and communication: letter recognition, writing, phonic sounds, vocabulary, speaking, etc.

Cognitive: number recognition, writing, counting, and understanding the basic function of numbers (numeracy), etc.

Our teachers will provide feedback and recommendation to ensure the children are meeting their developmental milestones. If needed, we will connect families to outside resources to maximize the children's potential.
